Spend the First Night of 2015 Aboard the Battleship New Jersey

December 31, 2014

Take your family on the most unique New Year's Eve adventure! The Battleship will open her award-winning overnight encampment program for families on December 31, 2014.

Your family* will enjoy dinner and breakfast served from the chowline, a tour of the ship, a ride in the flight simulator and the chance to sleep in the bunks that the crew of the USS New Jersey once did. Plus you will welcome in the New Year with a unique view of the fireworks over the Delaware River at midnight.

The New Year's Eve Overnight Encampment is $72.00 per person. To reserve your bunk, call (866) 877-6262 ext. 203.

* Families must consist of at least one parent, relative or legal guardian, and at least one child between the ages of 6 - 17.

Did you ever wonder, how many hulls the Battleship has?

Rich Thrash, Brass Team Volunteer

In this issue I'm continuing to feature drawings of areas of the ship created by Rolland Garber, a long-time volunteer on the ship. This one depicts what we would see if we could cut the ship in half. This section is taken through Fireroom 3 showing the structural details of the ship here inside the armored citadel. The people seen in the various compartments are volunteers on the ship that he has added for scale and comedic value. This drawing shows just how well protected the engineering spaces were. In the next issue we'll explore a cutaway view of one of the turrets.
